

Cookie Policy

Pursuant to Article 13 of Regulation (EU) 679/2016 (the “GDPR”) and any applicable data protection laws, Furla S.p.A., as data controller (hereinafter also “Furla”), provides you with the following information concerning the cookies used by www.furla.com (hereinafter, the “Website”).

This Cookie Policy forms an integral part of Furla’s Privacy Policy available [\[here\]](#).

What are cookies

Cookies are small text files that may be sent to and registered on your computer or mobile device by the websites you visit, to then be re-sent to those same sites when you visit them again. Cookies are used for different purposes, have different characteristics, and can be used both by the owner of the website you are visiting (so-called first-party cookies), and by different web servers (so-called third-party cookies) to the duration of your visit (session cookies) or for longer periods, until their expiry or cancellation by the user (persistent cookies). Cookies are stored by the browser based on the settings selected by you.

Pursuant to the privacy legislation in force, your express consent is not always required for the use of cookies. In particular, "technical cookies" – namely, cookies used exclusively to transmit messages over an electronic communications network, or otherwise strictly necessary to perform an action or a service requested by the user – may be used without your consent. Cookie analytics can be assimilated to technical cookies when used directly by the owner of website to collect information, in aggregated form, on the number of website users and how they visit the website. On the other hand, analytics and profiling cookies used to provide features and services in a more personalized way, to create profiles on users and used to send advertising messages in line with the preferences revealed by users while browsing websites, can be placed on your device only with your consent.

Below you will find all the information on the cookies installed through our Website and the necessary information on how to manage your preferences regarding them.

The Website uses the following types of cookies:

Technical Cookies

Technical cookies are necessary for the proper functioning of our site, as well as to improve accessibility of our web content, and they cannot be deactivated by our systems. They are also stored on your device in response to any actions you take that constitute a request for services, such as registration, setting privacy preferences, choosing your preferred language, logging in or activating specific features, and may be used without your consent. You can disable these cookies via your browser settings but some parts of the site or specific features will not work as a result. These cookies do not store personal data.

Profiling Cookies

Profiling cookies allow us to better understand and analyse your interactions with our site and your profile, store your preferences in order to send you messages and promotional content that match your interests, or provide you with assistance in completing unfinished purchases. These cookies may also be set through our site by our advertising partners in order to show you relevant ads on other sites, as well as personalised messages and marketing from those displayed on your social profile (Facebook, Instagram, Twitter etc.), and by social networks to collect, via cookies and social plug-ins, data relating to visits to our site. The information encrypted by profiling cookies may include personal data, such as an IP address, username, unique identifier or e-mail address. If you do not activate these cookies, we will not be able to provide you with a personalised service and deliver targeted advertising.

On the Website there are "buttons" (called "social buttons/widgets") identified by the social networks' icons (e.g. Instagram, Facebook, YouTube, LinkedIn) that allow you to reach and interact with a click directly with the social networks. By clicking on the social buttons/widgets, the social network acquires data relating to the user's visit to the Website. In addition, Furla uses Google Enhanced Conversions to improve the conversion tracking of its advertising campaigns. This feature involves the collection of personal data such as your name, email, address, and phone number. This data is sent to Google in encrypted form via advanced security algorithms. Google uses this data to improve the accuracy of marketing analytics by determining whether an ad click led to a conversion (more information about the service can be found here[LC1]). Outside of these cases, Furla does not share or disseminate any browsing information or user data with any social network. There may also be additional third-party analytical cookies, which vary from time to time depending on Furla's advertising campaign. In such cases, third-party advertising agencies commissioned by Furla may use cookies in the context of advertising campaigns on Furla's website, in order to generate anonymous statistics on such campaigns and only for a limited period. For more information about these cookies, please write to privacy@furla.com For more information on how to manage and delete these cookies, please see the section under "Managing Cookie Preferences".

Legal basis of the data processing

- Technical cookies:

execution of a contract to which the user is a party, namely a request by the user to access and use the contents of the Website (Art. 6.1 b) of the GDPR).

- Analytical cookies:

consent of the data subject (Art. 6.1 a) of the GDPR).

Management of cookie preferences By accessing the Website for the first time, you will see a banner containing a brief notice on cookies used by the Furla Website and the following buttons: - "Accept all cookies". By clicking on this button, you agree to the positioning on your device of analytical and profiling cookies for purposes of monitoring, analysis, personalization of services and of commercial communications, as described above. - You can set and change your preferences on the use of cookies through our Website, at any time, using the "Cookie Setting" command accessible from the cookie banner that usually appears at the first access to the Website or from the bottom of our homepage. Please note that your consent will be required only upon your first access to the Website: we will store choices you made during your first access for subsequent visits, to allow you to directly access the Website pages on your return. This is without prejudice to your right to disable/enable the cookies at any time, through the "Cookie Settings" function of our Website or through the settings of your browser. How to change the browser settings concerning cookies It is possible to disable/enable or delete the cookies at any time by using the settings of your web browser. In particular, if you do not wish to receive cookies, it is possible to set your own browser to inform you of the presence of a cookie, thus allowing you to decide whether to accept it or not; you may also automatically refuse all the cookies by enabling the specific browser option. You may also delete specific cookies already stored in the browser or block the storage of cookies on your computer by specific websites, or block third party cookies. Below, find the methods provided by the main browsers:

Following the disabling of all cookies, some functions of the website pages may not operate correctly. Moreover, you may manage your cookie preferences at <http://www.youronlinechoices.com> Without prejudice to the foregoing, you are informed of the possibility of using the information on YourOnlineChoices (EU), Network Advertising Initiative (USA) and Digital Advertising Alliance (USA), DAAC (Canada), DDAI (Japan) or other similar services. Through these services you can manage the tracking preferences of most advertising tools. Furla, therefore, advises you to use these resources in addition to the information provided herein.

Who processes your personal data? Personal data collected by using cookies may be processed by employees and collaborators of Furla and its affiliates in their capacity as parties authorised to process. This data may also be processed by trusted companies that carry out technical and organisational tasks on our behalf, acting as data processors. These include companies that provide us with IT, advertising, marketing services etc. You can find more information in the Furla Privacy Policy of which this document is an integral part. You can also request a list of the data processors with whom your personal data is shared by sending an email to privacy@furla.com Furla shall not disseminate, transfer and/or communicate your personal data to third parties who have not been appointed as data processors.

Your rights You have the right to:

- obtain confirmation of the storage of your personal data (right to access);
- request Furla to have your personal data rectified;
- request that your personal data is erased;
- request that Furla limits the processing of your personal data;
- oppose the processing of your personal data (for marketing and data profiling purposes, such right may be exercised at any time);
- request the portability of your personal data in a structured and machine-readable format and transmit it to another Internet Service Provider;

- oppose being subject to a decision making solely based on automated data processing producing legal effects on the data subject, recalling the always available possibility to rely on the assistance of one of our employees;
- withdraw the consent previously given (in any case, this shall not prejudice the legitimacy of data processing prior to your consent withdrawal).
- You have the right to lodge a complaint with the Data Protection Authority and/or other competent supervisory authority if you believe that your personal data have been processed in violation of the GDPR and/or any other applicable data protection laws.
- To exercise these rights, you may contact Furla by sending a request to the following e-mail address:
